DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 6-13 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim cannot depend from any other multiple dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims 6-13 are not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claim recites the limitations "the substrate introducing section" and "the substrate discharging section" in lines 4 and 5 of the claim. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

4. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claim is indefinite because it is not clear how can the guide member be disposed on the inner peripheral surface of the annual plate scrubber and disposed along the outer periphery of the scrub pad.

Art Unit: 1746

5. Claims 1, 2 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are indefinite because the part of the claims introduced by "wherein" recites methods steps and it is not clear what structure and/or structural relations between the claimed parts of the device are required to enable the recited steps.

6. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claim is indefinite because it is not clear how can the friction force convey and rotate the substrate.

Friction force is a force that resists the relative motion or tendency to such motion of two bodies in contact.<sup>1</sup>

7. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claim is indefinite because it is not clear what structure is required by the recited limitation of "in cooperation with" on page 39, line 13.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

9. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gill, Jr. (US Patent No 5,144,711).

Gill, Jr. teaches an apparatus comprising the claimed parts. See the entire document, especially Figs. 1, 3 and 4 and the related description.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

10. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

11. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 1746

12. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

13. Claims 3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gill, Jr.

Gill, Jr. teaches an apparatus as claimed except for the specific recitation of an inlet station and an outlet station (claims 3 and 4) and the specific recitation of a sensor to determine the presence of the substrate (claim 5).

As to the inlet station and outlet stations:

The semiconductor wafer processing technology is highly automated and precise technology requiring precise handling the substrates and highly clean environment. It would have been obvious to an ordinary artisan at the time the invention was made that inlet station and outlet stations are obviously presented in the apparatus of Gill, Jr. Such device would meet the limitation of non-specified inlet and discharge sections.

On the other hand, it would have been obvious to an ordinary artisan at the time the invention was made to provide inlet station and outlet stations to the apparatus of Gill, Jr. in order to avoid manual labor, enable precise handling the substrates and automate the production process.

As to the sensor:

The semiconductor wafer processing technology is highly automated and precise technology it would have been obvious to an ordinary artisan at the time the invention was made to control all the processing steps of the substrate treatment and thereby it would have been obvious to an ordinary artisan at the time the invention was made to provide sensor in the apparatus of Gill, Jr. to enable the automation of the production.

It has been held that broadly providing a mechanical or automatic means to replace manual activity, which has accomplished the same result, involves only routine skill in the art. In re Venner, 120 USPQ 192.

Conclusion

14. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. US Patents No 6,012,192, 5,351,360, 5,894,622, 5, 311,634, 6,006,391, 5,870,792 and 4,811,443 are cited to show the state of the prior art with respect to cleaning apparatuses with planar scrubbers.
